Practice

Timothy advises clients in all areas of alternative dispute resolution, with a focus on international commercial arbitration. Prior to joining Stamford Law Corporation, he spent six years with two leading international firms in Singapore and before that he practised in London, the Cayman Islands and the British Virgin Islands.

Timothy has fourteen years' experience acting for clients in a broad array of international commercial disputes, particularly those in the fields of energy and infrastructure, construction and finance, as well as joint venture and other investment disputes. He frequently advises on arbitrations and company internal investigations involving allegations of fraud, bribery and corruption. Timothy is fluent in the major rules of arbitration, including those of the ICC, UNCITRAL, SIAC, HKIAC, LCIA, and LMAA and has conducted arbitrations in many of the popular seats around the world including Singapore, London, Hong Kong and Switzerland.

Timothy was named one of Singapore's 20 most influential lawyers aged 40 or under by Singapore Business Review in 2014, citing his "impressive practice" and describing him as "one of the most promising future leaders in the field of international arbitration".

Timothy writes and speaks frequently on current issues in international arbitration, and is the author of the chapter on the challenge of arbitral awards in "Arbitration in Singapore: a Practical Guide" (Sweet & Maxwell 2014). He is a director of the Chartered Institute of Arbitrators (Singapore Branch).
